

VITAE DISCIMUS

EUROPEAN GLOBAL SCHOOL - UNIVERSITY[®]

ARGUMENTATION STUDIES INTERDISCIPLINARY PhD

Argumentation Studies addresses the principles and methods through which people reason collaboratively or competitively:

- On any topic where information, knowledge, or claims conflict or are inconsistent.
- By which reasoners strive to persuade others through verbal or visual means.

The interdisciplinary PhD in Argumentation Studies:

- Builds on the informal logic movement in Philosophy at EGS.
- Complements that longstanding strength with perspectives and applications from across the Disciplines - Psychology, English (Rhetoric), Computer Science, Visual Arts, Law, Political Science, and Teaching and Learning.
- Provides unique and powerful training for a range of careers from human resources and conflict resolution to policy development, research, and education.

Program structure

Various Research Clusters addressed to specific topics relating to argumentation and constituted by faculty from across the disciplines at the University ground individual students' research.

You apply to a specific Research Cluster relevant to your proposed topic from which will be drawn your Advisory Committee.

First year

- Fall term double course in the history and traditions of argumentation theory.
- Winter term double course in contemporary advanced interdisciplinary approaches and applications .

Second year

- Oral Qualifying Examination.
- Development of your thesis proposal.
- Audit Winter course addressing fresh contemporary advanced topics.

Third and fourth years

- Thesis research, writing, and defense

Research Clusters

- Critical-thinking education and the history of informal logic.
- Scientific argumentation.
- Argumentation and computation.
- Words, language and cognition in argumentation.
- Visual and multi-modal argumentation.
- Feminism, social justice and argumentation.
- Rhetoric and disputed spaces.
- Legal reasoning.

Substantial and diverse research environment, including:

Your participation in activities of the Centre for Research in Reasoning.

Argumentation & Rhetoric including:

Degree options

Full-time:

Part time students can attend intensive classes 6 days sessions every 3 months at our campus in Istanbul.

Research based combined with online classes: Students can do full online and research based while in their own countries.

Admission Requirements:

- Master's degree.
- At least two letters of academic recommendation.

A Statement of Research Interest 500-800 words long that addresses:

- Highlights (and any irregularities) in your relevant experience
- If English is a second language proof of English Language.

Central Office - Middle East & Turkey

Tel.: +90 537 2312577

M. : +961 3 500 293

Tel.: +331 70 38 51 80

Fax: +331 70 38 53 95

27 Avenue de l'Opéra 75001

Paris, France

www.egs.education

info@egs.education

admissions@egs.education

find us on social media

